

Please say NO on HB5263!

1- Rabbits are wonderful animals and pets. We work very hard everyday to rescue them from their horrific conditions they already face and believe me it's heart wrenching!

They are the third most common household pet after dogs and cats, incredibly intelligent and loving creatures. I will include one of our many neglected rabbits that was rescued from a backyard breeder. It was too late for this girl but you can help prevent this from happening to others.

2- Due to public pressure, Petco and PetSmart stopped selling pet rabbits.

They now only display rescue rabbits for adoption – the same treatment they give to dogs and cats.

3-Whole Foods and other specialty stores stopped selling rabbit meat after concluding there was no market for sales.

4-The multi-billion-dollar cosmetic industry has been moving away from using rabbits and other animals in their testing programs due to consumer pressure.

5-While the rest of the country has recognized and elevated rabbits as pets, CT is taking a step backward in proposing this initiative.

Speak Up for Animals. They are counting on you.
